The Beyond High School Advantage

Our Approach

Uncover Solutions with Pivot's Change Design Model

Pivot's transformative change design model is based on learnings from the Stanford d.school, IDEO, and the Henry Ford Learning Institute. We convene design teams of education leaders, teachers, students, parents, community members, industry partners, and community colleges to create results-driven change.

The Research

A Data-Driven Strategy for Greater Student Success

Beyond High School's research-based approach leads to better student outcomes—graduation rates, student achievement in English Language arts and math, social-emotional skills, and college and career readiness—over traditional school environments.*

Our Partnerships
